

Join the Pop Up PD for Literacy Educators committee for a valuable new webinar:

Workforce Literacy and Pre-Employment Planning

Thursday, December 9, 2021 from 2:00 to 3:30 pm EST

Many learners you're working with may be preparing for work. But what is the landscape out there as we recover from the pandemic?

In this webinar you'll hear from panelists Justin Falconer of Workforce Windsor Essex, Lidia Siino, an Employment Counsellor at YWCA Hamilton, and Rachel Hunt, an Employment Service Manager at Goodwill Career Centre. They will help attendees:

- get an overview of what's happening in the labour market
- learn about the role of planning boards and the work they are currently doing to support your work
- hear from Employment Services about their services and special programs
- explore employment goal path resources

Webinar Presenter Sara Gill has been involved in the adult literacy field since 1996. She has been an instructor, researcher/developer, assessor and trainer. She was also an online instructor for OntarioLearn - Teacher of Adults Literacy Educator through Sault College. She has worked in Literacy and Basic Skills programs as well as in workplace essential skills education. She is currently the Executive Director of the Adult Basic Education Association – the adult learning network for Hamilton. She focuses on partnership development, service coordination and advocating for adult education and its integration into workforce development.

About Pop Up PD:

Pop Up PD was developed for LBS practitioners by a committee of the Learning Networks of Ontario (LNO), the Provincial Support Organizations of Ontario (PSOL), and e-Channel. Our goal is to provide free PD (Professional Development) opportunities to literacy educators via topical webinars. Technical Support is provided by Contact North. The work of the Pop Up PD committee is funded by the Ontario Ministry of Labour, Training and Skills Development.
